

The vertical distance between the supply pipe and the receiving vessel must be at least twice that of the diameter of the supply pipe.

